

Cable companies should have to face competition from other ISP firms willing to purchase access to their lines. This type of competition might bring the astronomical cost of broadband access over cable facilities to a level low enough to fit my budget. Chairman Powell: Please do not bow to BIG BUSINESS, at the expense of competition and the small businesses of our country. I like the effects of this type of competition and would like you to support the small business owner, just as I do.